Pompeii & Endeavor Space Shuttle Exhibits at the California Science Center

In the year 79 A.D., the Roman city of Pompeii vanished beneath thick layers of volcanic ash left by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. But what nature destroyed, it also preserved. Today, the UNESCO World Heritage Site remains frozen in time, attracting over two million tourists each year...luckily, for those Californians who can't make it to Italy any time soon, Pompeii: The Exhibition features over 150 precious artifacts on loan from the Naples National Archaeological Museum in Italy, the exhibit offers a glimpse into the opulent lifestyle and tragic end of this ancient Roman society forgotten for centuries until its rediscovery over 250 years ago. From garden frescoes and marble statues to gladiator armor, coins and currency to religious altars and shrines — all set in their original surroundings — experience daily life in this once vibrant Roman city. Then, as the floors shake and the walls rumble, relive the volcano's catastrophic eruption through an immersive CGI experience, culminating in the reveal of full body casts of twisted human forms, asphyxiated by extreme heat and noxious gases and forever frozen in time. Through excavated artifacts, multimedia experiences, and hands-on science exhibits, guests will learn the science of archaeology, volcanology, and Roman engineering while exploring the ancient civilization of Pompeii. After your Pompeii Exhibition tour, you will have an opportunity to grab lunch at the Rose Garden food court (featuring pizza, sandwiches, salads, Taco Bell Express and McDonald's) and venture out to see the Endeavor Space Shuttle and other exhibits. Afterwards, you will view "Forces of Nature" on the 17-story IMAX screen with 12,000 watts of surround sound.

Los Angeles Police Museum & Old Pasadena – Los Angeles & Pasadena

Opened in 2001, the museum displays the rich history of the LAPD from its 1869 beginnings. Go behind the badge at the city's oldest surviving police station, built in 1925, where you can check out everything from Charles Manson's booking photo to an array of vintage cop cars. True crime fans will appreciate the exhibition detailing the 1997 North Hollywood Bank of America holdup, with the original vehicles and disguises used by the perpetrators. If you're thinking of committing a holdup, try scaring yourself straight by taking a mug shot and sitting in one of the jail cells. More interested in pretending to be part of the LAPD? The museum allows visitors to climb aboard a police helicopter or CHP motorcycle and imagine themselves as part of the action. An audio tour will walk you through the museum discussing the history of LAPD. An exhibition of vehicles from various eras and functions in LAPD history is displayed beneath a vehicle shelter constructed to the rear of the museum. You can experience a real jail cell and snap your own free police booking photo. Uniforms, badges and equipment are displayed alongside artifacts from LA's famous cases and investigations, such as the North Hollywood Shoot-out, the Onion Field and the SLA shoot-out. After touring the museum you will board the bus (not paddy wagon) to charming "Old Pasadena" where you will have several hours to roam the shops and have a bite to eat (or bring your own lunch).
